THE WILLPOWER TO RESIST!

James Germano, executive director of Marathon House, Inc., a drug rehabilitation center, will speak on "Drugs on Campus, the Willpower to Resist." Mr. Germano, an ex-addict, will reflect from his personal experience the temptations, trials and dismal hopelessness felt by the increasing number of drug addicts in this country.

Sponsored by the Cultural Affairs Committee, the lecture will take place on Monday, January 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the Auditorium. Tickets can be purchased at the door for $1.00 each. For more information, contact Susan Grigsby at 741 (voice) or 480 (TTY).

GALLAUDET EVALUATING CAPTIONED PROGRAMS

The Office of Educational Technology has a contract with the Public Broadcasting System to assist in the evaluation of two "closed captioning" techniques, which permit a TV viewer to elect to see captions or not by turning a switch on his television set.

Hearing impaired viewers in New York, Austin, Topeka, Los Angeles, Portland, Spokane, Denver, St. Paul, Hartford, Jacksonville and Washington will participate in special viewings of captioned programs using these two systems during the months of February through May.

Gallaudet College will receive data after each viewing for analysis. On February 17 and 18, community coordinators and station coordinators from the 12 cities will be meeting at PBS and Gallaudet College for a workshop on the captioning and distribution process and training on the data collection process.

The project is headed by Don Torr and staffed by Kanny Kannapell and Earl Higgins. Gil Delgado, Horace Reynolds, Peter Ries and Clarence Williams are providing consulting support.

INTRODUCING THE JOY BOYS

The Joy Boys, Ed Walker and Willard

Scott, the two zany, satirical disc jockeys from WWDC radio, are scheduled to open the second annual Gallaudet Forum on January 25.

This special series of four Friday evening dinner-lectures is sponsored by the Center for Continuing Education. A fee of $14.00 is charged for the entire series.

Registration for the Forum as well as 48 other spring courses, including macrame, furniture refinishing, career advancement and upward mobility and income tax preparation, ends January 25. Call 575 (voice and TTY) for further information.

for a portion of the day.

4. As many buildings as possible will be closed during night hours and thermostats will be reduced.
5. The use of buildings will be restricted on weekends.
6. Lower electrical wattage will be placed in hallways.
7. Domestic hot water will be shut off in non-essential areas.
8. Air conditioning thermostats will be set at 80°.

All of us can cooperate in this effort by: (1) keeping windows and exterior doors closed, (2) opening drapes and shades during the day to let sunlight enter and closing them at night to keep cool air out, (3) wearing warmer clothes as opposed to turning up thermostats, (4) using only necessary lights and (5) reducing the use of College-owned vehicles as much as possible.

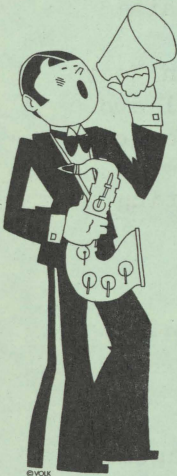

Tom Lillis, as coordinator for the conservation of energy on Kendall Green, will implement these procedures. In addition, individuals have been designated as energy conservation coordinators for the main buildings on the campus. They are: College Hall, Judy Meade; Chapel Hall, Judy Bortner; Library, Lee Putnam; Hearing and Speech, Bill Mullen; Gym, Dorothy Hamberg; SUB, Phil Kerstetter; Kendall Hall, Ernest Moncada; Dawes House, Philip Goldberg; Auditorium, Jo Tracy; Kendall School, Fran Parrota; Art Center, Helen Sullivan; Counseling Center, Claire Timmons; Gate House, Bill Farran; Receiving, Elmer Tapscott; and MSSD, Ken Carlton.

These people will make periodic inspections of their respective buildings to determine if these measures are being carried out. If you have any suggestions of additional ways to conserve energy, please contact one of these individuals or Tom Lillis.

AND NOW, A WORD FROM OUR SPONSOR...

The winter issue of GALLAUDET TODAY, which will be out soon, focuses on the television industry. It reports on what is being done for deaf viewers; explores the use of television in schools for the deaf; tells about an alumna who has made it in the industry and comments on what can be done for the benefit of deaf people.

PRINTING INDUSTRY

With the rising costs in the printing industry and the U.S. Post Office, GALLAUDET TODAY, at $3.00, is becoming a better bargain every day!

If you have not subscribed yet, we hope you will want to do so today. Just make your check payable to GALLAUDET TODAY and send it to the Alumni and Public Relations Office. We will do the rest!

ENERGY AND YOU!

Measures to conserve energy at the College have been recently outlined. Some of the major steps being taken at this time are:

1. Thermostats will be lowered to 68°.
2. All but one radiator will be cut off in each room.
3. Depending on outside temperature, as many boilers as possible will be cut off
